

Changes to The Consumer Price Index beginning with the May 2007 CPI

Starting with the May 2007 Consumer Price Index (CPI), the basket of goods and services used to calculate the CPI was updated to reflect changes in spending patterns of Canadian Households. Consumer spending patterns indicate the proportion, by geographic area, of consumers' budget spent on various items. The basket must be changed from time to time to ensure that too much importance is not given to some items and geographic areas and too little to others.

The update, which occurs periodically, is designed to ensure the CPI's reliability for three key purposes: a measure of inflation; a statistical series deflator; and a tool for indexing various payments and transfers.

The update includes two major changes: the weights of various items in the basket of goods and services used to calculate the index have been updated from 2001 to 2005; and the CPI base year (the period for which the value 100 is assigned to the index) has changed from 1992 to 2002. As the result of rebasing, CANSIM tables 326-0001, 326-0002 and 326-0016 have been replaced by new tables 326-0020, 326-0021 and 326-0022. These two new CANSIM tables contain historical and current data. A vector number concordance table between the new and old table is available on CANSIM.

Although the CPI base year has changed from 1992 to 2002, the base period 1992=100 will still be published for the All-items index. The Consumer Price Index with base period 1986=100 will be discontinued. Users should note that the changeover to the base year 2002=100 will in no way alter rates of change measured for previous periods, barring rounding.

Also, the content and format of two publications will be reviewed and updated in the near future: Your Guide to the Consumer Price Index (cat. 62-557) and Consumer Price Index (cat. 62-001). An update of the Consumer Price Index Reference Paper is planned at a later date.

Statistics Canada decided to incorporate the following changes at the same time it updates the basket:

1. The "rental of videotapes and videodiscs" index was expanded to include the rental of video games for consoles.
2. The "photographic equipment" and "photographic services and supplies" categories were redefined to provide a clearer distinction between the goods component and the services component. The new categories are "photographic equipment and supplies" and "photographic services."
3. The "audio discs and tapes" purchase and the "video tapes and videodiscs" purchase indexes were replaced with a single index covering the purchase of both audio and video media.
4. Though unpublished, structures under the "video equipment" and "audio equipment" headings have been updated to include new electronic products.
5. A special effort has also been made to reflect recent new trends in health care. Two new indexes are now published: one for ophthalmological goods, and another for ophthalmological services.
6. Detailed indexes for "cooking utensils" and "tableware and flatware" are discontinued. Now, only the "kitchen utensils, tableware and flatware" aggregate is published.
7. Two new special aggregates are computed and disseminated: CPI All-items less gasoline CPI All-items less housing, insurance and financial services

CPI information and data are available in the monthly publication The consumer price index (cat. 62-001) and on CANSIM, Statistics Canada's information database. The appendix indicates what will be available in CANSIM and in the publication.
